Idaho jobless decline

To lowest level

By The Times-News and United Press International

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's latest unemployment rate, the lowest in 25 months, may signal a return to a pre-recession economy, state officials were saying Friday.

The seasonally adjusted rate dipped to 6.8 percent for the first time since September 1981, said Scott McDonald, the director of the Idaho Employment Department.

Federal officials also were delighted with a quick drop in national unemployment, to 8.8 percent during October.

National jobless rate favors economy — A4

But in the Magic Valley, the jobless total, headed up again, as seasonal employees dropped off the work rolls and a Gooding meatpacking plant shut its doors.

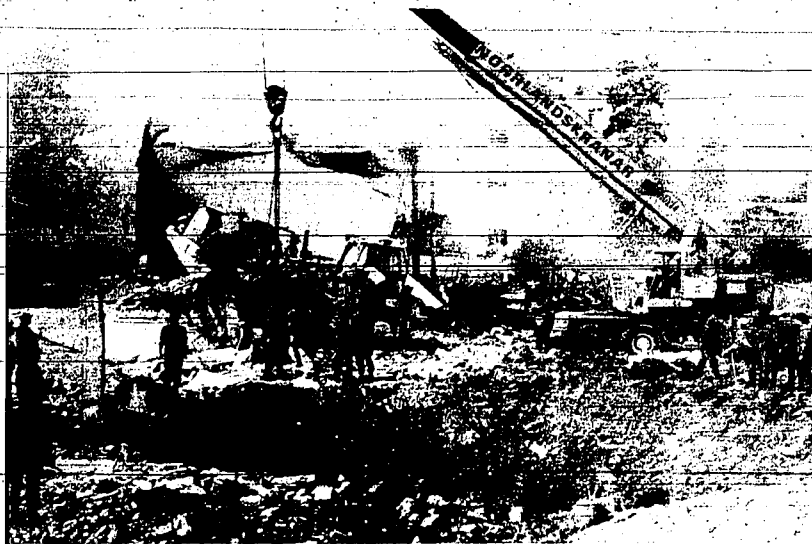

The rate for Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties stood at 7.5 percent in October, a half-percentage point higher than in the previous month, said Jon McDonald, a state labor force analyst based in Pocatello.

Some workers for the U.S. Forest Service and agricultural workers hired for the harvest finished their seasonal jobs, he said.

In addition, Blinn's Magic Valley Packing Co. at Gooding closed down for awhile. Richard Blinnco, he said, will be an indefinite period. And the Tupperware Co. plant in Jerome also conducted a month-long furlough of 60 employees to use up excess inventories.

The October rate fell under the 8.0 percent record set a year ago. However, "we've seen an increase in the number of folks on unemployment."

Bomb flattens Israeli headquarters

By JEFFREY HELLER
United Press International

TYRE, Lebanon — A terrorist driving a truck loaded with 1,100 pounds of explosives destroyed Israel's military headquarters in south Lebanon Friday, killing 39 people and wounding 20 others. Israel retaliated immediately with air strikes against Palestinian positions behind Syrian lines.

The Rightist Voice of Lebanon Radio said at least 60 people were killed and 100 wounded in the retaliatory strikes. The explosions sent huge clouds of black smoke pouring out of the mountains.

The early morning suicide attack, using a green Chevrolet pickup, was a carbon copy of the strike that destroyed a U.S. Marine headquarters at Beirut airport 14 days ago, killing at least 23 men.

The Islamic Holy War, an underground fundamentalist group which claimed responsibility for the attack on the U.S. Marine peacekeepers, said it was also responsible for the bombing in Tyre, 46 miles south of Beirut.

"We can send 2,000 fighters to die in south Lebanon," the group said in a communiqué sent to news organizations in Beirut. "The world should wait for more surprise actions from us."

Israel occupation authorities immediately imposed a three-day curfew on Tyre, a city of 60,000, mostly Shiite Muslims, and sealed off southern Lebanon from Israel to the south and Beirut to the north.

The Israeli army, announcing the search for survivors had ended, said there were 39 dead, including 29 Israeli soldiers or security personnel and 10 Lebanese who had been held for questioning. It said 30 others were wounded, including 27 Israelis and three Lebanese.

The blast flattened the building used as a headquarters. The blackened skeleton of an adjacent building used as a kitchen was left standing, its roof dangling precariously at a 30 degree angle.

About 50 yards away, Arab children played on the undamaged front patio of their home, oblivious of the Israeli soldiers digging with their hands through the rubble and officers issuing orders through megaphones.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said President Reagan was briefed on Friday's attack before leaving for North Carolina, where he met with relatives of some of the servicemen killed in the attack against the Marines.

"The president deeply deplores another senseless act of violence," Speakes said. "It demonstrates vividly how far radical elements will go to disrupt a peaceful process in Lebanon and the Middle East."

In the northern port of Tripoli, meanwhile, rebel guerrillas pounded Palestine Liberation Organization loyalists with artillery and tank fire, trying to force PLO chief Yasser Arafat and his supporters out of their last stronghold in Lebanon.

Police said at least 100 people had been killed and hundreds wounded in the fighting in Tripoli that started Thursday.

In Geneva, the leaders of Lebanon's warring factions closed their first round of national reconciliation talks. Spokesmen said the new violence had no effect on the discussions, but the leaders moved up the recess time by a day.

Lebanese President Amin Gemayel was returning to Beirut Saturday along with most of the faction leaders.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Arens, touring the site of the Tyre blast, blamed the attack on a "network of murderers" including Palestinian guerrillas backed by Syria. "We shall hit back," he vowed.

Quake damage at Gooding state school adds to state plea

By United Press International and The Times-News

BOISE — Gov. John Evans, citing new evidence of millions of dollars in severe structural damage to schools from last week's earthquake, said Friday he will ask President Reagan to declare the entire state a disaster area.

Evans said students in Mackay, Challis, Arco and Gooding have been forced to stay at home or attend class in temporary quarters since last Friday's earthquake, which rumbled across seven Western states and killed two school children in Challis.

Evans has ordered three buildings closed at the State School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding. In addition, four modular buildings will be moved to the site for use as temporary classrooms, said Brian Chase, the administrator of the state's Division of Public Works.

"The building's safe to occupy but if large aftershocks occurred, the walls could collapse," Chase said Friday of the old Gooding High School building on the school's campus. "It's an accident waiting to happen."

State Disaster Services coordinator Darrell Waller said Friday it would cost about $7.5 million to repair the damage at the Gooding facility.

The quake came a month after members of the State Board of Education had decided to propose an $8.5 million renovation program for the school to the Legislature.

Chase says the damaged buildings were slated for removal in four or five years under the Board of Education proposal. In addition to the old high school, the school's career education center also was damaged, he said.

Earlier, the state had estimated the cost of replacing the old high-school building at $2 million, Chase said.

"The bottom line is: Nobody in state government is expecting them (the federal government) to come in and build us a new building. We'd be happy if they'd assist us with relocation costs," he said Friday.

The buildings were damaged by tremors that registered 6.3 on the Richter scale. Representatives of the Federal Emergency Management Agency are expected to announce their estimates of earthquake damage on Monday.

The replacement cost is estimated at $1.5 to $2 million at the old Challis High School, which was intended to house junior-high students with the opening this week of a new school for older students, he said.

The Mackay School sustained about $555,000 in damage, but specific cost projections have not been submitted for Arco Junior High School, Waller said.

In many cases — particularly in Mackay — demolition and construction of new buildings would be less expensive than rebuilding atop damaged foundations, said National Guard Gen. James Brooks.

The requested federal disaster declaration would allow school districts to receive 100 percent grants to repair or rebuild damaged structures, said Richard Buck of the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

PUC pans phone fees for long-distance use

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission tentatively rejected a telephone industry recommendation Friday to charge customers a monthly fee for the privilege of making in-state long-distance calls.

The three-member commission decided the proposed 30-cent-to-$2-per-month access charge was an unfair "head tax" on consumers.

But the panel invited consumer and industry comment on the proposed order until Nov. 23, saying its Friday action was not final.

Under the industry proposal, local subscribers would bear the burden of building and maintaining the telephone system while long-distance companies and their customers would "make unfettered use" of the phone system without paying for it, the commissioners said.

A seven-member committee of Idaho phone-company representatives had asked the commission to adopt long-distance access charges by January so Idaho telephone firms could keep pace with changes ordered by the Federal Communications Commission in light of the divestiture of American Telegraph and Telephone Co.

Under the plan, all customers would have paid their phone companies a maximum monthly service charge of $2 to help the utilities cover the cost of providing long-distance service within the state.

The charge would have differed among the utilities because it would be based on each company's cost of providing the service.

The commission also has opposed recent efforts to impose similar access charges for long-distance calling from state to state.

The FCC, which has jurisdiction over long-distance rates between states, has mandated a $4-per-month access charge for connection to the national phone network by 1986.

Troops leave isle; Soviet pact revealed

By NICK MADIGAN
United Press International

The first American paratroopers to withdraw from Grenada flew home Friday to a hero's welcome and the island's U.S.-installed administration expelled a large group of Soviet Cuban and East bloc diplomats and their families.

The leader of the defeated Cuban forces arrived in Havana to tell President Fidel Castro "my mission is accomplished."

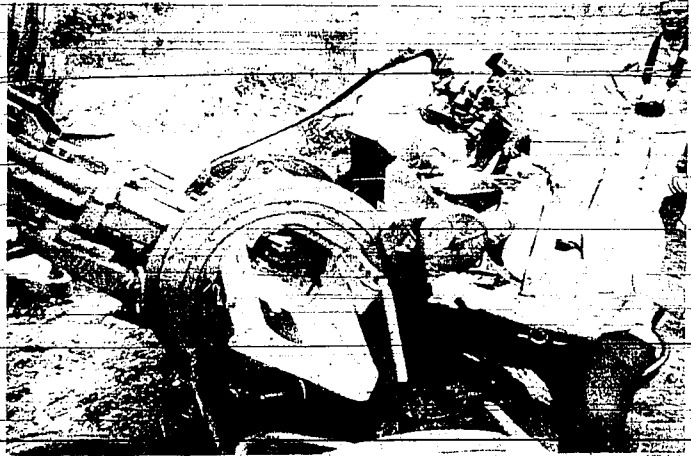

U.S. officials said 400 soldiers composed the first contingent of the 82nd Airborne Division to leave Grenada, arriving at Pope Air Force Base near Fort Bragg, N.C., aboard three planes.

They were met by crowds of people who braved a cold steady rain to cheer the soldiers along streets adorned with yellow ribbons.

Army spokesmen said or many as 2,300 soldiers will be flown home in the first wave of a U.S. withdrawal, leaving behind an estimated 2,500 men.

Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh Jr. presented combat infantryman badges to three paratroopers during a ceremony at Pope.

Third student dies after crash

IDAHOFALLS (UPI) — A third Ririe High School student died Friday from injuries she received in an automobile accident near Idaho Falls earlier this week, police said.

Ann Blissett, 16, believed to be the driver of a compact car involved in the Monday crash, died of internal injuries Friday morning in the intensive care unit of an Idaho Falls hospital, officials said.

Miss Blissett died shortly before funeral services began for two other victims of the accident, which happened at the intersection of State Highway 43 and Fairview County Road, about six miles northeast of Idaho Falls. Also killed in the accident were 17-year-old Stephanie Schluter and Lori Harris, 17, both of Ririe.

Judge joins in anti-DUI ruling

CALDWELL (UPI) — A Canyon County magistrate has joined several state judges in ruling that a portion of Idaho's new drunk driving law is unconstitutional. Third District Judge Jack Swafford ruled earlier this week that the law adopted by the 1983 Idaho Legislature did not give police the authority to seize drivers' licenses and similarly denies courts the authority to suspend the driver's licenses of motorists who refuse to take sobriety tests.

But legal advisors for the Canyon County Law Enforcement Department said they differ on the question of whether police should continue to seize the licenses of drivers who refuse the tests.

Bicyclist fails to listen, dies

GLENN DALE, Md. (UPI) — A bicyclist listening to music through headphones rode into the path of a train he apparently did not hear and was crushed to death, police said.

Prince George's County police said they were unable to identify the man because of the severity of his injuries.

Police spokesman Bob Law said the man was sitting behind a truck that was waiting at a crossing for a five-car southbound train to pass.

Rights chairman calls for veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clarence Pendleton, chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, called Friday for a presidential veto if Congress votes to replace his agency with a new, congressional anti-discrimination panel.

Pendleton, who was appointed by President Reagan, called a news conference to declare his opposition to a move aimed to strip Reagan of power over the civil rights commission by making it an arm of Congress.

The proposal, which has gained substantial support in the both the House and Senate, was introduced after Reagan two weeks ago abruptly fired three liberal members of the six-person U.S. Civil Rights Commission. Reagan already has replaced two commissioners.

Illegal immigration targeted

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A top U.S. Border Patrol official Friday called for continued efforts to squash illegal immigration, saying it was "tearing at the fabric of our society" and "destroying our American way of life."

Roger P. Brandemuhl, assistant commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service Border Patrol, spoke at the dedication of a new headquarters building for the patrol's Chula Vista Sector, in the San Diego border suburb of San Ysidro.

"We must stifle the wave of illegal immigration which is tearing at the fabric of our society and, indeed, destroying our American way of life," he said.

Alan C. Nelson, INS commissioner, hit a less strident note in his keynote address.

"Our concern for our government's good relations with the government of Mexico is not well known, but it should be. Let us continue to see to it that our apprehension, processing and return of thousands upon thousands of illegal aliens is done humanely, fairly and firmly," Nelson urged.

U.S. sells Turkey 160 fighters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said Friday it has notified Congress of the intent to sell Turkey 160 F-16 fighters over the next 10 years in a $4.1 billion arms deal that is one of the biggest ever concluded between the United States and one of its allies.

The long-expected announcement came two weeks after Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger met at Ankara with his Turkish counterpart, Haluk Bayraktar.

Turkey, which is a member of NATO and guards the alliance's southern flank, initially will buy some of the F-16s directly from the manufacturer, the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Texas.

In the second stage, it will assemble the plane in Turkey and in the third and final stage it will co-produce the aircraft under license from General Dynamics.

Lebanese talks break through

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Leaders of Lebanon's warring Christian and Muslim factions Friday endorsed a 30-day adjournment of the peace talks, ending a "psychological breakthrough" toward ending years of civil warfare.

They agreed to reconvene in Geneva on Nov. 14 after Lebanese president Amin Gemayel visits Western and Arab capitals to discuss ways of ending the Israeli occupation of southern Lebanon.

"It was a psychological breakthrough," Nabil Berri, leader of the Shiite Muslim Amal militia, told reporters. "We established communications that did not exist before."

Saeed Salam, the moderate Muslim leader who tends to back Gemayel, also hailed the weekend first phase of the talks. "It was extremely satisfactory and I think it went very well," he said.

during the past three weeks, Lon McDonald said. The normal winter slump in employment appears to be taking place about three weeks ahead of normal, he said.

The latest, seasonally adjusted figures show 32,799 people employed and 2,662 out of work in the three-county area. McDonald said the Magic Valley traditionally is slow to go into a recession and slow to emerge from it.

In Boise on Friday, unemployment officials were interpreting the latest rate of 6.8 percent as a sign of an improving business atmosphere.

Damage

Jones said federal disaster assistance would be based on the value of the damaged structure and not on the cost of building a new structure. Because of the age of the affected buildings at the Gooding site, federal relief would not totally fund rebuilding the damaged structures, he said.

In addition, Buck said, if the disaster-area request is approved, the Small Business Administration and Farmers Home Administration would be authorized to issue low-interest loans to homeowners and merchants whose buildings sustained serious damage in the quake.

Evans said he was seeking a statewide disaster declaration because he believed considerable damage remains undetected.

"You're going to see fluctuations in the rate," said Employment Department spokesman Randy Furniss. "But if interest rates remain at current levels, we will see a trend toward more normal levels in the state."

The wood-products, agriculture and food-processing industries paced last month's improvement, agency officials said.

"Prior to 1980, the (jobless) rate historically declined in October," Furniss said. "In recessionary times, it seems to increase in October."

Seasonal layoffs in wood-products and other industries occur earlier during recessions, he said. This year, good weather and other factors may have helped keep the workers on the job longer, Furniss said. Department analysts expect the trend to continue.

But the improvement had some soft spots. It did not count in some northern Idaho workers who have exhausted their unemployment benefits. And the temporary shutdown of a federal supplemental compensation program also eliminated some October statistics, he said.

Statewide, the agency said 28,400 workers — in a seasonally adjusted labor force of 418,300 — remained unemployed in October.

"The principal problem is in the education facilities that have been damaged beyond repair," the governor said.

"We don't have the financial resources at the state level, nor do the local schools have the financial resources" to repair or rebuild the structures.

"There's no way to determine at this time the full extent of the damage," Brooks said, adding the new information has invalidated a $2.5-million damage assessment that was made two days after the quake.

Brooks said about 20 Idaho National Guard troops were in the Custer County — earthquake zone Friday, helping residents clean up rubble and tear down buildings too seriously damaged to be repaired.

However, he said, "Some of those structures are going to be too big for us to cope with" and heavy equipment will be needed to raise them.

The Idaho Red Cross has reported that 37 homes in Challis and Mackay were damaged — in the quake, but Brooks says state and federal teams will conduct a door-to-door survey to confirm that figure.

Evans said a statewide disaster declaration also would provide aid for owners of the Clayton Silver Mine, where production will be halted for two months while workers clear earthquake-generated flood water from a shaft 1,100 feet below the surface.

Boise City Hall also would qualify for disaster assistance, he said. The downtown building was evacuated this week while workers repaired a key support beam thrown off-center in the quake.

Grenada

All men who served on Grenada eventually will receive the badges.

In Washington, State Department released documents captured in the Grenada invasion, including a secret treaty with the Soviet Union and a Cuban chronicle of Grenadan internal struggles preceding the Oct. 19 killing of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop.

The July 27, 1982 agreement with the Soviets called for the delivery of Soviet weapons and the training of Grenadan troops in the Soviet Union. The documents included a similar secret treaty between Grenada and North Korea and a treaty with Cuba establishing a permanent military liaison with a total of 60 specialists, 27 of them to be stationed on Grenada permanently.

Among the documents was an unsigned set of notes, dated Oct. 21, 1983, in which the Cubans were reported to have expressed concern at the potential dissension within Bishop's New Jewel party.

The notes say, "It is clear that the Cuban leadership does not know of the disposition and timing of M-16 (presumably, Maurice Bishop) as well as his wickedness."

The expulsions of diplomats from Grenada began late Thursday when two U.S. Air Force military transports flew an "unidentified number of Soviets and East Germans to Kingston, Jamaica."

Two more U.S. military transport planes arrived in Toluca, Mexico, on Tuesday. The planes were reported to have been carrying 126 diplomats and their families ordered out of Grenada Thursday.

American officials said the departure of the diplomats to Mexico was "unplanned" because they tried to "smuggle" out a small arsenal of 38 AK-47 rifles, 300 ammunition magazines and five pistols aboard the aircraft.

State Department spokesman John Kirby said in Washington, the weapons were refused after an eight-hour standoff and "altercation."

"The United States protested an attempt to smuggle out weapons on our aircraft," he said. The weapons were confiscated.

The group was later flown to Havana aboard a Soviet Aeroflot jetliner and was met by Castro, helping residents clean up rubble and tear down buildings too seriously damaged to be repaired.

However, he said, "Some of those structures are going to be too big for us to cope with" and heavy equipment will be needed to raise them.

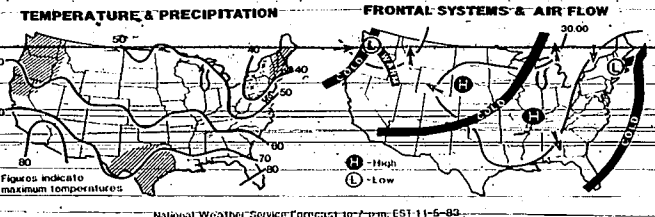

The Cuban Foreign Ministry spokesman said he expected the first of 679 Cubans held prisoner by U.S. troops in Grenada to return to Cuba later Friday.

"My mission is accomplished," Taine told CNN with tear-filled eyes as he stepped off the jet.

A Cuban Foreign Ministry spokesman said he expected the first of 679 Cubans held prisoner by U.S. troops in Grenada to return to Cuba later Friday.

A 14-member Congressional delegation led by the House Democratic whip, Rep. Thomas Foley of Washington, flew to Grenada Friday for a first-hand inspection of the tiny spice island 1,900 miles south of Miami.

Reagan mourns U.S. dead

CHERRY POINT MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, N.C. (UPI) — President Reagan paid homage Friday to the U.S. servicemen killed in Lebanon and Grenada, telling their families America must risk lives "to prevent humankind from drowning in a sea of tyranny."

In a somber and patriotic speech after attending a memorial service at nearby Camp Lejeune, home of the 2nd Marine Division, Reagan said: "If this country is to remain a force for good in the world, we will face times like these — times of sadness and loss."

"But, in such times we must draw together and console ourselves with the understanding that our country stands tall among nations and is carrying a heavy responsibility." Reagan, who met briefly with about 200 relatives of slain Marines and said later, "I think all Americans would cradle them in our arms if we could. We share their sorrow."

He said global terrorism is continuing and the nations of the world needed to stand firm. "In the Middle East this morning we have learned of yet another terrorist assault similar to the attack against our Marines, this time against an Israeli site in Tyre, Lebanon," he said.

"Freedom is being tested throughout the world," Reagan declared, noting that Burma Friday severed relations with Pyongyang, blaming North Korea for an Oct. 9 bomb blast that killed 21 prominent South Koreans.

The president said he will be carrying a message to South Korea when he flies there next week — "a message of revulsion at this atrocity, determination to stand with our friends in support of freedom."

At least 230 Marines died in a terrorist bombing of Marine headquarters in Beirut Oct. 23 and 18 servicemen were killed in the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada last week.

In a steady cold rain, the president and first lady Nancy Reagan, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Secretary of State George Shultz joined about 5,000 others who attended the outdoor service honoring the dead servicemen.

Greyhound keeps earnings secret

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Greyhound Corp. Friday reported increased third-quarter earnings, but days after its bus system was shut down by striking employees who refused to take a pay cut.

The diversified corporation's financial report said earnings reached $36.3 million, up from $35.6 million last year and included "a modest improvement" by Greyhound Lines. A spokesman said company policy is not to release specific interim figures for subsidiaries, such as the bus system.

Although the bus revenue was improved over last year's "severely depressed earnings," Greyhound chairman John W. Teets said a 9.5 percent salary reduction was necessary to make the system competitive. "The picketing is by frustrated people who have not had the opportunity to review the proposal," Teets said. "The security of those people picketing and the security of their jobs depends upon our being able to compete with discount airlines and other companies."

"If we don't get parity, there won't be a bus system around three or four years from now for anyone to picket or argue about wages," he said. Teets said because the company paid the highest wages in the industry, it lost $16.5 million in operating expenses last year. He said the slight improvement in the third quarter still left earnings "down nearly 70 percent from the historic income levels normally reported by the bus company for the third quarter and the two months."

Union officials claim the bus system is not in bad financial shape and that its proposals actually amount to a 20 to 25 percent reduction in wages and benefits. They did not return telephone calls seeking their analysis of the latest financial results.

Greyhound officials said the company has taken more than 20,000 applications for the strikers' jobs but it has not hired any replacements in the hope that employees will change their minds in the next two weeks.

"A lot of people think we have hired (replacements)," said spokeswoman Kathy Davidson. "We absolutely have not."

No quorum, Clark vote delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Energy Committee failed to act Friday on the nomination of William Clark as interior secretary when the panel could not muster the necessary quorum of senators for a vote.

Chairman James McClure, R-Idaho, said the panel will vote Wednesday on sending Clark's nomination to the full Senate.

"My guess would be it would not reach the floor of the Senate next week. It will be the week after," said McClure.

The nomination had been moving quickly through the Senate confirmation process but the committee fell three senators short of a quorum needed to vote on whether to recommend confirmation to the full Senate.

Clark, former White House national security adviser, is President Reagan's choice to succeed the controversial James Watt as Interior Department chief. He is virtually assured of confirmation by the Republican-controlled Senate.

The committee held two days of confirmation hearings this week, during which Clark gave almost no indication of where he stands on Watt's pro-development policies. McClure noted Clark had not completed responses to 202 written questions submitted by senators in addition to his 10 hours of testimony.

Under persistent questioning, Clark finally signaled he may break with one of Watt's major policies and ask Congress to appropriate money for new park land and wildlife refuge expansion.

Watt had refused to ask for money for new park land and opposed congressional efforts to force him to make such purchases.

Dairy program cut pondered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers could save $3.8 billion a year, including up to 13 cents on each gallon of milk, if the dairy support program were cut by just 11 percent, a coalition of farm and consumer groups said Friday.

The backers of the price cut, calling themselves CRIMP (Coalition to Reduce Inflationary Milk Prices), are urging the House to adopt a plan by Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y. They said Conable's proposal to cut the support price of $13.10 per 100 pounds of milk by up to $1.50, or 11 percent, is simple and direct.

The House is expected to vote next week on a dairy program. Conable wants his plan to replace a compromise bill drafted by dairy state congressmen that would pay farmers to cut milk production, establish a program to promote milk consumption and cut the support price by 50 cents.

"The compromise, in my view, involves a high degree of Mickey Mouse," Conable said at a news conference. "It will be difficult to enforce."

CRIMP sent letters Friday to congressmen asking their support for the Conable plan. The letter listed 15 supporters, including investors in the Public Voles for Food and Health Policy and the American Farm Bureau, the nation's largest farm group.

Jobless rate favors economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate plunged to 8.8 percent in October, the Labor Department said Friday, a clear sign the economic recovery is expanding.

There were major improvements in construction, mining and manufacturing industries that had been hit hardest by the recession. And across-the-board unemployment declines were experienced in literally every major category — men, women, blacks, whites, Hispanics and teenagers.

The 8.8 percent jobless level is the lowest since February 1982, and the 0.5 percentage point decline from September's 9.3 percent rate matched the drop between June and July.

It put the jobless rate a full 2 points below the recession-high 10.8 percent experienced last December.

The seasonally adjusted data showed 9.9 million Americans still unemployed, compared to 12 million at the height of the recession. The number of people with jobs remained virtually unchanged at 101.9 million following strong advances over the past four months.

An alternative unemployment rate, which includes 1.7 million members of the "military in the work force," dropped from 9.1 percent in September to 8.7 percent.

Budget plan flounders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House Friday all but rejected a $120 billion deficit-reduction plan by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and said the only tax increases President Reagan supports are his proposed "contingency" tax hikes.

But Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said Senate leaders will continue to work on a deficit-reduction package and are discussing $73 billion in new taxes that are "not inconsistent" with Reagan's contingency tax proposal.

Marlin Fitzwater, deputy White

House press secretary, said late Friday: "The only plan the president supports at the moment is the '84 budget cuts and the contingency tax."

"The Dole plan appears to be outside the criteria established in that budget and there appear to be a lot of problems with the Dole plan," Fitzwater said.

Dole, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, had proposed a $120 billion deficit-reduction plan that obtained much of its savings through a reduction in the payment of annual cost-of-living increases in government benefits.

Russians rescuing submarine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Soviet salvage tug sped Friday to the rescue of a Russian attack submarine that broke down in the Atlantic and was stranded on the surface off the U.S. coast — in plain view of American surveillance cameras.

The U.S. destroyer Peterson, based in Pascagoula, Miss., moved into the vicinity of the stricken Victor III Class sub to monitor its activity and reconnaissance — aircraft kept — a round-the-clock watch on the late model boat, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Mark Neuhart said.

The 6,000-ton hunter-killer sub surfaced 470 miles off Charleston, S.C., and was spotted Wednesday by a P-3 Orion reconnaissance plane on routine patrol.

The Navy said the sub's mission below the surface is to pinpoint the whereabouts of U.S. submarines armed with intercontinental-range nuclear missiles.

The Alden, a Pamir Class salvage tug, was en route to the submarine from its base in Cuba and was expected to reach the stricken vessel by nightfall, Neuhart said. It was not known whether repairs would be made at sea or if the sub would be towed to Cuba.

"You can bet they're barling their horns right now," Neuhart said. "It would be very uncomfortable because subs are not designed for traveling on the surface."

Though the sub was not in danger of capsizing, the rounded hulls of submarines prevent them from maintaining an even keel on the surface.

The continuous surveillance of the boat, a Navy official said, "affords us the opportunity of documenting the operational activity of a front-line Soviet attack sub."

"Never before have we been provided with such access to one of their operating attack subs for such a long time and we want to take every advantage of this opportunity."

Timing set on military bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic and Republican Senate leaders reached agreement late Friday on a time limit for considering a $252.5 billion military spending bill that should avoid a protracted debate over the MX nuclear missile.

Senate GOP leader Howard Baker announced a voting schedule for more than two dozen pending amendments that calls for a vote Monday on whether to scrap $2.1 billion for production of the first 21 MX super-weapons.

Two other major amendments, both to be offered by Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, will be taken up Tuesday: whether to restore funding for two controversial new nerve gas programs and whether to restore as much as $2 billion in other funding once authorized by Congress but deleted by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Baker withdrew his threat of a Saturday session but warned his colleagues to plan for a long day on Monday.

"You can tell by the number of amendments we're going to have a very, very busy day and I believe a very late day on Monday," he said.

Under the agreement, a final vote on the bill will be held by 6 p.m. EST Tuesday, avoiding the protracted debate on the MX that held up the Senate in July.

The Senate managed to consider only minor amendments Friday.

Colorful 'harvest'

Golda and Ed Roberts of Buhl worked at setting up their booth Friday at a "harvest festival" at the College of Southern Idaho.

Mrs. Roberts has been making quilts for more than 50 years. She says it is nothing to spend 150 hours making a large quilt. The festival, which has more than 70 booths, includes a variety of arts and crafts. It will continue today and Sunday in the CSI Expo Center.

Postal exam spurs interest

Hundreds apply for future jobs

By BOBEREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Postal authorities in Twin Falls are anticipating a crush of applicants for clerk-carrier jobs at a regional test that will be held later this month.

Bill Brady, the delivery services manager for the Postal Service in Twin Falls, said Friday that 404 job-hunters already have registered to take the federal examination, and many more have picked up applications or phoned the post office for information.

The test, now tentatively scheduled to be given Nov. 30 at the College of Southern Idaho, only will create a roster of applicants. Postal authorities will fill future vacancies from that roster, Brady says. There are no positions open now.

The examination will create the first district-wide roster for the Magic Valley's 13 post offices, he says. Applications may be obtained at the following post offices until Nov. 10: Buhl, Burley, Filer, Gooding, Hagerman, Heyburn, Jerome, Kimberly, Paul, Rupert, Shoshone and Wendell, as well as the Twin Falls center.

The post offices in the Wood River Valley are not part of the district.

Those taking the test must pick three post offices in the Magic Valley where they would prefer to work, so they will not be competing with every name on the roster, Brady says.

The test is scheduled every two years, or when the eligible applicants from the roster are exhausted.

The pay scale of the federal positions is expected to attract many applicants. Based on returns so far, more than 750 applicants could be competing for a spot high on the roster, Brady estimates.

Carriers and clerks work for a base pay of $8.09 an hour to start. But cost-of-living increases boost the total pay to more than $10 an hour.

The applicants will be able to attend a pre-test, which tentatively has been set for Nov. 21, to familiarize them with the type of exam they will be taking, Brady says. Basically, it is an aptitude test that concentrates on reading and memory skills, he says.

The post office is not the only organization that has been scheduling preparation sessions.

A private company has been holding workshops and guaranteeing participants that they will score at least 95 percent on the postal test, or they will get their money back. The California company offering the workshops has no connection to the U.S. Postal Service. It charges $35 for the workshop and materials. Sessions were held in Twin Falls and Burley last weekend.

Brady says the Twin Falls office has received many inquiries about the workshop. But neither he nor Better Business Bureau officials in Boise knew anything about the performance of the company, which is called the Achievement Center.

However, Brady said Friday that an advertisement run in newspapers, including The Times-News, tends to discourage job-seekers who might do well on the test. It claims that applicants will not have been interviewed for a job unless they score 95 percent on the test.

"We've hired people below 95," Brady says.

Multi-faceted

Rehabilitation agency's fund-raising drive 'hits' all areas

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Using a three-pronged approach, Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services has begun its 1983-84 fund-raising drive.

"It wants to raise $44,200. The revenue will be used to maintain the agency's programs," says Jeff Crumrine, its executive director. MVRS is a non-profit organization that provides training, employment, evaluation and placement for the physically and mentally handicapped.

The rehabilitation center contracts with state and federal agencies for the training of the handicapped. It also contracts with area businesses to provide several services, such as mail and can cleaning, to train and employ its clients.

"With decreasing federal and state support, and rising costs, however, the revenue is not enough to meet the agency's needs, Crumrine says.

MVRS is seeking funds again this year by submitting proposals to foundations, by soliciting funds from corporations, by conducting a mail solicitation and by holding special events.

MVRS sought help from the public last year using a similar approach. Its efforts resulted in the collection of $18,500.

The revenue collected from each fund-raising effort this year already has been earmarked.

The funds generated through foundations will be used to purchase a data-processing system, Crumrine says. MVRS had planned to purchase one last year through foundation gifts, but it did not receive any funds.

"We're going to give it another try this year," he says.

Any funds from corporations will go toward physical-plant improvements, such as finishing the parking lot of the Twin Falls facility and basic building maintenance.

Proceeds from all other fund-raising will be allocated for salaries of the MVRS staff, Crumrine says.

Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services already has sent approximately 1,200 letters to past contributors and other potential donors in the mail-solicitation part of the effort, Crumrine says. Those contacted by mail will be able to take advantage of a new feature this year.

"In addition to giving people the options of making a cash contribution or using their credit card, people can authorize an electronic transfer of funds from their checking account. We believe this new option should make it easier for people to make a contribution and hopefully increase the average amount contributed," he says.

Under special events, MVRS is selling Christmas packages provided by the Falls Brand Independent Meat. For every package sold, the Twin Falls meat company will make a donation, Crumrine says.

Businessmen will have the opportunity to sample the various packages for gifts to their employees. MVRS will host "business nights," where those who attend can receive reduced rates.

The packages — which contain turkey, hams, sausages, cheeses and other meats — can be purchased at a booth at the Lynwood Shopping Center from Nov. 18-20, and daily after Dec. 2 until Christmas.

For further information about "business nights" or any other MVRS fund-raiser call 734-4112.

Crumrine says that contributions to MVRS are tax deductible and eligible for an Idaho tax credit because they serve the handicapped.

Allen family takes up its wait in Pittsburgh

TWIN FALLS — The Fred Allen family is settled in Pittsburgh, where it again will wait until a liver donor is found for their 2-year-old daughter.

Fred and Carol Allen of Twin Falls, their three sons and Pam flew to Pittsburgh on Monday. The University of Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital has accepted Pam into its liver transplant program.

The family decided to move to Pittsburgh so Pam might have a better chance of receiving the life-saving operation.

Pam, 2, of Twin Falls, who is helping administer the $54,000 fund that has been collected for the child's medical expenses, returned Thursday from Pittsburgh, where she helped ease the family into its new life.

Powder reports that the Allens are staying in a second house for families of potential transplant recipients.

They will remain there for about a month and then find an apartment.

The Aid Association for Lutherans group has helped place the two older Allen boys in a Lutheran school, which has waived tuition, Dowd says.

The other boy may be placed in a day-care center.

Also, the family is receiving support from a group composed of former transplant patients or families of individuals who have received transplants.

"I look for the family to have a lot of moral support," Dowd said Friday.

The trust fund — raised through many Magic Valley community events — will pay only for the family's rent in Pittsburgh, Dowd says. All other expenses will have to be paid by the Allens, who are living on Social Security benefits because of Mr. Allen's disability.

Council candidates stress their experience

Incumbent Gale Kleinkopf says first year was educational

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The last year has been an "educational experience" for Gale Kleinkopf.

Picked from an 11-person field to replace Bud Cheney on the Twin Falls City Council last November, he says he has spent most of this year learning the ropes.

Kleinkopf thinks that appropriate. There is much that outsiders do not realize about the mechanics of city government, he says.

A freshman should not think he can jump into the ring swinging. To begin with, most people do not realize the number of restrictions — both legal and consensual — that bear on a representative of the people, he says.

"And I think it takes anybody looking at this type of position a certain amount of time to gain the expertise necessary to make policy decisions," he says.

"I really feel I am at that level now, that I can make a stronger contribution."

Kleinkopf's most visible contribution this year was chairing a scientific committee to study the need for a city regulation on pesticide storage.

The committee's recommendation that divisive community issue and Kleinkopf's vote — was against creating a special ordinance to deal with the problem.

The new councilman also has pushed quietly but forcefully for improvements to the city-owned senior-citizen center.

Kleinkopf, 49, who lives at 1572 Princeton St., is an agricultural scientist by profession. He grew up in Twin Falls and attended public schools here. But as a young man, he left town to pursue his educational career.

His studies took him first to the University of Idaho, where he obtained a bachelor's degree in agricultural chemistry, and then to the University of California, where he earned a Ph.D. in plant physiology.

He returned to Twin Falls in 1975 to take a job as associate director of the Kimberly Research Center.

Kleinkopf says the city's main problem continues to be capital improvements. The pool is the most recent manifestation of this continuing problem. But he says it also has been evident with the airport, City Hall and the sewage treatment plant, and it will continue with streets, city shops and the senior-citizen center.

Kleinkopf has taken a special interest in the senior center, which the city owns and leases. He pushed for a small sum — to be included in this year's budget for its renovation.

Now that the building's structural deterioration has been found to be far more extensive, he thinks the city should look for a long-range solution.

"It's a good program," he says. "It's not a lot of good people in it, and I'd hate to see it go, or be reduced

GALE KLEINKOPF

City's assets need work

Just because of the facility."

Eventually, the city's capital improvement needs will be solved only by state legislative action, Kleinkopf believes. "The cities have to have more of a voice at the legislative session than they have in the past."

Zoning Chairman Jack Miller says he's ready to move 'up'

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — As a member of the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission for the past five years, Jack Miller has had his appetite for government service "whetted."

He now wants to move on to the City Council. "Where the rubber meets the road — where the decisions are really made."

To Miller, the city may best be understood as the third- or fourth-largest corporation in Twin Falls.

As such, he believes a council member should be one who has known the responsibility of generating cash, who realizes how tough it is to make money today.

The council should see its best colors when it cooperated recently with the Chamber of Commerce in obtaining a federal grant for a new industrial park, Miller thinks. The council should assist business, not hinder it, he says.

Miller was born in Scottsbluff, Neb., and graduated from Michigan State University in 1949 with a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics.

He went into business in Nebraska, then in Kansas and then in Chicago. He has worked in the sale and marketing of construction and farm equipment to Western European countries and Israel. This required a substantial amount of traveling when he was a young man, but after some thought, Miller decided against buying a house in Europe.

And in 1969, after witnessing the Chicago race riots and the rioting during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, he picked up his family and moved to Twin Falls.

"I wanted to get away from it to a low-density area," Miller says. "Frankly, I didn't care for all the racial problems that exist in high-density areas."

In Twin Falls, people did not seem affected by those issues; in Chicago, he had learned the meaning of fear, he says.

Miller, who lives at 1766 Dora Drive, owns PM Building Systems Inc., a small general contracting firm. He ran for the City Council in 1981, receiving 383 votes, which placed him fifth in a field of six.

His continuing interest in a seat on the council next led him to submit his application when a replacement for former Councilman Bud Cheney was being picked in 1982.

JACK MILLER

City is large corporation

Miller, 57, believes his time on the zoning commission has given a "deep insight" into how the city is run and managed. This would make him "more effective, quicker," he says.

As chairman of that commission, he admits he has gained a reputation for being pro-business. But Miller defends his record, saying his votes generally have been substantiated by the City Council.

If one danger hangs more conspicuous over the city is the threat of these times of budgetary restraint, Miller says it is that zoning becomes too restrictive.

Above all, zoning rules should not be "chiseled in stone." There should be room for discretionary judgment

See MILLER on Page A6

Natural trend

Wendell United Methodist is the latest area church to have a woman as its pastor

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

WENDELL — Since about half of all new ministers graduating from Methodist theological colleges now are women, it is natural that women ministers would come to Idaho.

Amy Starr Jennings, the minister of the Wendell United Methodist Church for the last seven weeks, is one of a handful of women leading churches in the Magic Valley. She has a master's degree in Christian education and a master's of divinity degree.

"I'm sure it's different for the people in the community," says Jennings, the first woman minister in Wendell. "So far, people seem to be very pleased. We've had visitors to church services who say it's really nice to have a woman as a pastor. It was a change, and they enjoyed it."

Jennings, who was raised as a member of a large and active Methodist church in North Carolina, has set some goals for her church.

She would like to build up the Sunday school, have some new families come into the church and start a day-care center as a community service. Meanwhile, the minister is visiting church members and "searching out" the role of the Methodist Church in the community. Her church, one of nine in a community of about 2,000, has 130 members.

On a national level, Jennings says her church's major project is the United Methodist World Service Program, which provides emergency relief to disaster victims within 48 hours, nationally and internationally.

Camp Sawtooth, north of Fairfield, is a major project of Methodist churches in the area, Jennings says. Recently, a new lodge was built at this retreat by persons from Wendell and Hagerman.

"All the logs were numbered like a giant Lincoln Log set," she says.

"Now, we're raising money to do the interior work."

She notes that during the summer, Camp Sawtooth has programs every week, including a family camp, a senior high school camp, a junior high camp, a youth camp and a fourth-grade camp.

Jennings says she enjoys Wendell because she can "walk everywhere" and the residents seem to be more relaxed than people in general in the Eastern states.

The minister says she was not sure what to expect in Idaho.

"People in the East have little idea of what is in the West," she says. "Most of the news is about the East or California."

"I've always wanted to be a part of the church in some capacity," she says. "Probably the most important thing is that I care about the church. I think that as I stay here longer, I'll probably get more involved in the community."

Interest fears weaken stocks

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
United Press International

NEW YORK — The stock market skidded in slow trading Friday on investor fears of higher interest rates and a prediction the Federal Reserve will tighten credit in the near future.

Blue-chip IBM fell in profit taking and Tandy Corp. plunged on a report of disappointing October sales. But airlines, whose traffic improved last month, scored with a first-in-line rally.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which skidded 10.17 Thursday, surrendered another 8.84 to 1,218.29. The closely watched average shed 5.19 points for the week overall.

The Dow Jones transportation average rose 2.89 to 666.60, thanks to the airlines rally. But the interest-rate sensitive Dow utility average fell 1.35 to 138.58.

The New York Stock Exchange index lost 0.56 to 83.77 and the price of an average share decreased 21 cents. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 1.01 to 162.44. Declines topped advances 962-575 among the 1,970 issues traded.

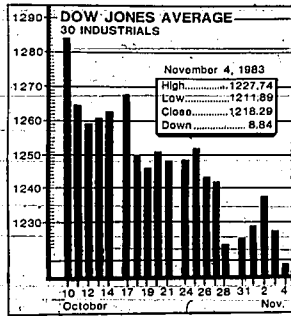

The Big Board volume of 72,080,000 shares, down from 85,350,000 traded Thursday, was the slowest since 71,590,000 changed hands Oct. 14.

Big investors stayed on the sidelines to await the Federal Reserve's post-market money supply figures that showed a $900 million increase. That was less than most experts had forecast.

Investors still have interest-rate jitters," said Alan Ackerman of Hertzfeldt & Stern.

Their uncertainty is causing profit taking and some tax selling but I think things will pick up soon."

Henry Kaufman, Salomon Brothers economist, triggered some selling when he predicted the Fed would tighten credit late this year or early next.

year because of the strength of the economy.

The government reported the October unemployment rate fell to a 20-month low of 8.8 percent, down from 9.2 percent the month before. The White House said this showed the economy's strength.

"The market was coming down from the outset and Kaufman's statement accentuated what was happening already," said Chester Padgog of G. Tsai & Co., Los Angeles.

Senate failure to raise the debt-ceiling has hiked interest rates and raised fears government borrowing needs before year-end will be squeezed together.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all

U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 87,819,000 shares compared with 103,936,430 Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange index shed 1.18 to 213.41 and the price of an average share fell eight cents. Declines topped advances 347-250 among the 803 issues traded. Composite volume totaled 5,414,290 shares compared with 7,681,700 Thursday.

The National Association of Securities Dealers listed 107 OTC stocks lost 1.69 to 27.17.

On the trading floor, Pan American World Airways was the most active NYSE-listed issue, up 1/4 to 7 1/2 with a block of 1,500,000 shares at 7 1/2. The company has agreed to swap planes with American Airlines.

AMR rose 1/4 to 34 1/2. Among the other airlines, Delta gained 1/4 to 38 1/4, Northwest 1/4 to 44 1/4, UAL, Inc. 1/4 to 32 1/2 and USAir 1/4 to 31 1/4.

BankAmerica was the second most active issue, up 1/4 to 19 1/4.

Tandy Corp. was third, off 1/4 to 4 3/4. The company reported a 10 percent increase in October sales. Analysts expected 15 percent.

IBM, which lost 1/2 Thursday, was the fourth most active issue, off 1/4 to 124 1/2. IBM unveiled a new graphing system Thursday after introducing its PCjr home computer earlier in the week.

Cone Mills scored 5/4 to 52 before trading was halted. Western Pacific Industries reportedly is seeking to take control of Cone Mills.

Digital Equipment, which lost 2 1/4 Thursday, rose 1/4 to 6 1/4. The company said capital spending for the current fiscal year will be down from the previous year.

Coleco Industries added 1/4 to 21. Top retailers denied rumors circulating Wall Street that large numbers of Coleco's Adam computers were defective.

Job injuries decline sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Job-related injuries and illnesses dropped to 7.7 per 100 full-time workers during 1982, sharply down from a year earlier, the Labor Department reported Friday.

Work-related deaths in firms employing 14 or more persons also dropped, from 4,578 in 1981 to 4,090 last year, with nearly 30 percent of the fatalities from car or truck accidents.

Assistant Labor Secretary Thorne Aucther applauded the survey results and said they "represent an endorsement of President Reagan's cooperative, non-adversary approach to job safety and health."

The department said job-related injuries and illnesses fell from an 8.3 per 100 full-time workers rate in 1981 to 7.7 percent in 1982, continuing a steady decline since 1979.

U.S. Steel credit rating slips

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard & Poor's Friday put U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 steelmaker, and its Marathon Oil Co. subsidiary on creditwatch with negative implications.

A spokesman for the rating agency said the move "means that there's the potential for the bond ratings of both companies to be lowered." S&P's creditwatch alerts investors to events or developments that could lead to rating changes.

S&P said it took the action because U.S. Steel has indicated it plans to embark on a major plan to restructure and downsize its steel capacity.

Such a program would entail large writeoffs and plant closings, which would have a cash impact on severance costs and funding needs for pension obligations, the agency said.

DETROIT (UPI) — Norman D. Lean, senior vice president and chief operating officer of Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A., retired Nov. 1.

Lean, 56, joined Toyota as national service manager in 1969. He was named national sales manager in 1972 and became an officer of the company in 1973, when he was named vice president of general operations.

GREEK, Colo. (UPI) — Monfort of Colorado Inc. reports net income of $16.1 million on record sales of $1.33 billion for the fiscal year that ended Sept. 3.

Company president Kenneth Monfort said the sales record was a 33 percent increase over fiscal 1982. In addition, the firm's pre-tax income of $32.1 million was a record.

The net income of $3.48 per share last fiscal year compared with $3.84 per share on sales of $996.9 million in fiscal 1982.

Emergency loan program to resume

By SONJA HILLGRN
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department's lending agency will reopen a $600 million economic emergency loan program no later than Dec. 22 to comply with a federal district court order, it was announced Friday.

Agriculture Secretary John Block permitted the Farmers Home Administration loan program, which was authorized in 1978, to expire in September 1981.

In a class action lawsuit brought by farmers from several states, U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Flannery ruled this past summer that Block's decision not to make the loans was "arbitrary, capricious and an abuse of (his) discretion."

At the urging of agricultural groups and members of Congress, Block decided not to appeal Flannery's decision and to resume lending.

The economic emergency loan program was created to supplement regular Farmers Home programs that provide farm ownership and operating loans. It is a separate program from the one under which emergency drought loans are being offered to farmers who suffered major losses from this summer's dry spell.

The program about to be reopened was designed for farmers and ranchers unable to get sufficient credit from their regular lenders who need credit to maintain viable farming operations.

The Agriculture Department said the loans will be used to finance 1984 crop production; to purchase essential livestock, feed and equipment; to pay living and production debts that cannot be extended; and to pay or refinance delinquent installments on other debts.

The Farmers Home Administration, a lender of last resort, provides 12 percent of credit to American farmers, focusing on those who cannot get credit from commercial sources. When the economic emergency program expired in 1981, it had provided 121,000 loans to farmers totaling more than $6.6 billion.

An individual can borrow up to $400,000 in economic emergency funds. The program includes both direct loans and government guarantees of commercial loans. Interest rates for guaranteed loans are negotiated between the borrower and lender.

For direct loans, the rate is tied to the government's cost of borrowing money plus up to 1 percent for servicing and administration.

The announcement to resume lending was issued in Washington under Block's name, although he has gone to Rome to be chairman of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization conference.

Money supply climbs again

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Friday reported the money supply measure known as M1 rose $900 million in the latest week, somewhat less than expected, causing little reaction in the bond markets.

M1, comprised of cash, checking accounts and NOW accounts, is the money that is available for immediate spending — was a seasonally adjusted average of $518.3 billion in the week ended Oct. 26 compared with $517.4 billion the previous week.

In the latest 13 weeks, M1 averaged a 4.5 percent rate of gain.

Commercial and industrial loans at the nation's major banks fell $255 million in the latest week, compared to a decline of $481 million the previous week.

The money supply remains within the Fed's new target ranges for growth.

Grain futures

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat, corn and soybean futures prices were mostly steady Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat futures traded in 10-cent increments, corn in 1-cent increments and soybeans in 1-cent increments. The market ended on a firm note. Volume was moderate.

Corn made new highs and wheat, soybeans and soybean meal also gained higher. Soybean oil was the only lower, mainly on speculation.

The futures market's export sales figures were considered the higher prices.

Corn received underlying support from Mexico's purchase of 350,000 metric tons of corn.

There was light commercial selling during the session, but no country movement was reported.

What's what

The great French novelist Victor Hugo tricked himself into finishing his day's work, sometimes. Example: On more than one morning he ordered his housekeeper to hide his clothes and not return them until late afternoon. Why he needed them then I do not know. It's claimed in the historical record that Hugo during the last 20 years of his life sent out every evening for a lady of the evening.

Humphrey O'Sullivan of Boston walked the pavement all day, looking for a job, when the idea hit him. He invented rubber heels.

During the 100 years before the Declaration of Independence, the average American woman had 13 children.

EDISON'S CODE

Q. Thomas Edison lost much of his hearing at an early age. But I just read he and his wife attended stage plays. How did he hear the actors?

A. His wife fingerpopped key lines of dialogue in Morse code on his knee. Didn't I tell you he taught her the Morse code? Then tapped out his marriage proposal in her hand? She tapped back yes.

"What have we here?" asked the Italian chemist Ascanio Sobrero. Or words to that effect. In 1847, it was. He'd just produced a liquid that looked most interesting. He heated a drop of it, and bang! The explosion shook up his lab. Nitroglycerin! Sobrero in horror stopped his experiments immediately. But others knew a good weapon when they saw one.

NARROW HEADS

Some tribes in ancient Chile bound the soft skulls of their babies between flat rocks so the youngsters would grow up with long-narrow heads.

Most intelligent animal in the wild kingdom is the elephant. So it's the easiest to train. That's the claim of Gumbel Gebel Williams, who's trained most sorts. Buy, maybe he's never handled dolphins. I've heard they're the smartest of all.

Louis Pasteur so loathed germs he refused to shake hands with anybody.

Italian immigrants built Moscow's Kremlin at about the same time Christopher Columbus was sailing the Atlantic.

The earth gains as many people in two years now as lived during the time of Christ.

Military joins Marcos government

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Ferdinand Marcos, plagued by a political and economic crisis, brought the military into his government Friday in an unprecedented attempt to quiet fears over a possible coup.

In an official statement and remarks on government television, Marcos announced he would invite armed forces officials to sit-in on Cabinet meetings on major policy decisions.

Top military officials, led by Armed Forces chief Gen. Fabian Ver, attended their first Cabinet meeting Friday, called by Marcos to discuss the controversial question of presidential succession.

Ver pledged during the two-hour meeting at the presidential palace to uphold "to the death" decisions by civilian authorities.

Former Sen. Francisco Rodrigo, an opposition leader, called the move "ominous."

"The presence of the military in the Cabinet can intimidate the civilian officials," Rodrigo said. "It looks like he is losing control and kowtowing to the military."

In another sign of the country's deep crisis, the Philippine Central Bank Friday ordered commercial banks to surrender all foreign exchange to the government to enable it to pay debts and for vital imports, such as oil.

Prime Minister Cesar Virata, who also is finance minister, said the action was taken to ease a balance of payments deficit that has reached a record $2.63 billion and was not nationalization of the banks.

"What we are saying is that you have to turn in the foreign exchange receipts passing through you to the central authority so that we can allocate these to the highest use required by our people in our country," he said.

The Philippines has been torn by protest since the assassination Aug. 21 of opposition leader Benigno S. Aquino. Business executives worried over the instability have taken hundreds of millions of dollars out of the country as a result, worsening an already dim financial picture.

Recently, with renewed rumors that Marcos is seriously ill, questions have arisen over who will succeed him.

Leftists plot against Reagan

TOKYO (UPI) — Leftist radical students in Japan have drafted plans for possible guerrilla attacks on the U.S. Embassy and American military facilities to disrupt President Reagan's visit next week, police said Friday.

As part of their anti-Reagan campaign, the extreme left-wing Chukaku-ha (Middle-Core faction) group claimed responsibility for igniting smoke bombs Friday on two bridges running over a main Tokyo commuter line.

Banners with "Block Reagan's visit to Japan" and "Crush the reactionary Nakasone government" were hung from the bridges. Demonstrators staged two other protest actions earlier this week at U.S. military facilities. The Tokyo Metropolitan Police plans to mobilize 23,000 officers for the protection of the presidential party during Reagan's four-day visit, beginning Nov. 9. He will also visit South Korea on his Asian trip.

A police source said coded documents and sketch maps were found during raids on three separate hide-outs of Chukaku-ha, known for its violent tactics.

Police experts examining the material seized two weeks ago from Chukaku-ha "believe the documents outline specific actions of guerrilla attack," the source said.

Maps with detailed sketches of the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo, the U.S. naval base at Yokosuka and other U.S. military facilities were also seized during the raids on Oct. 26, the source said. Two men were arrested during the sweep.

Authorities have not yet determined the exact nature of the coded documents, police said.

Chukaku-ha is a splinter group of radical students formed in the late 1950s to protest the renewal of the U.S.-Japan security pact. Violent protests from the original group known as Zengakuren forced the cancellation of President Eisenhower's scheduled visit in 1960.

Survivors begin to talk of Turkey's earthquake

By ISMET G. IMSEY
United Press International

ERZURUM, Turkey — Neriman Sheker, a teenager from a tiny village in eastern Turkey, was the only survivor who fell on top of her during a massive earthquake that killed more than 1,500 people.

The teenager from the village of Gerek, near Erzurum, is among those who lived to tell what happened. In last Sunday's quake turned 77 villages in eastern Turkey into a rubble of death and destruction.

Rescue officials said 205 of Gerek's inhabitants, about a third of the population, were killed. "First there was a massive cloud of dust," said Omer Arash, 40. "When it dispersed, the village was in ruins."

Fatma Hanim, 65, told the story of Neriman's miracle.

When the quake struck, the body of a woman fell on Neriman before an avalanche of debris came tumbling down. Her positioning miraculously allowed her to breathe and 48 hours later, she was pulled out alive.

The quake did not survive, and was counted among the estimated 3,000 head of livestock killed in the tragedy in the poorest and most remote region of Turkey.

Tevfik Aydemir, 80, suffered fractures in his right leg when the jolt demolished most of his village, Muratbagi, the worst affected village. At least 740 of its 800 residents perished in the quake.

Interviewed at the Ataturk University Hospital in Erzurum, Aydemir recalled that when he was a child during World War I, "there was a lot of fighting on the Russian front a few miles from here. And a lot of hunger."

"The nights used to be so cold without food. People cooked their leather slippers and ate them," he said. "But this was much worse, since this time the deprivation cuts deeper. Is more painful. Why did I not die?"

In the village of Donatash, 25 people were killed within hours of the birth of the village's newest resident. Durmus Kasik, 60, told how the baby's mother died in pain from her bed as soon as the quake struck, leaving the newborn behind to be buried in the debris.

"I could not see a thing in the cloud of dust that rose," Kasik said. "Then, the troops came and dug out the smashed room. They found the baby alive."

Kasik said the family had planned to call the baby Arif. In Turkish, it means a girl of exceeding beauty — and a calamity. "I understand they changed their mind and decided to name her Gulen," the old man said. That means smiling.

Bomb destroys class

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A powerful bomb believed planted by Irish nationalist guerrillas exploded Friday in a college classroom packed with police officers, killing two officers and injuring 30 other people.

Police said 16 people were rushed to three local hospitals in serious condition. Fourteen of the approximately 30 injured were police officers.

No group claimed responsibility for the attack, but officials said it was almost certainly the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army or a splinter group, the extremist Irish Nationalist Liberation Army.

One officer was killed instantly and the second, a sergeant, died of his injuries several hours later, a police spokesman said. Police sources said they feared at least two other victims would die.

The fatalities were officers of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, the Northern Ireland police force. None of the dead or injured were identified.

Officials said there was no warning before the bomb detonated near the professor's lecture in a criminology class at Ulster Polytechnic, ripping through the classroom and dumping wall masonry onto the students.

"I heard a massive bang and then the wall fell on top of me," said one student before he was whisked off in an ambulance to be treated for shock.

"Lots of the others didn't stand a chance. Some of them had their arms and legs blown off. It was terrible. I couldn't stay to help."

More than two dozen students in adjoining classrooms of the Polytechnic were taken to hospitals to be treated for shock.

Blast kills factory workers

RIESEL, West Germany (UPI) — A bomb blast detonated by suspected terrorists ripped through the offices of an armaments factory Friday, causing $300,000 in damage but injuring no one, state prosecutors said.

Chief Kiel state prosecutor Heinz Ludwig said the bomb exploded in the accounts offices of the Krupp MAK engineering and armaments firm in the Kiel suburb of Friedrichshafen at 2:20 a.m. local time.

It blew out windows in a 100-yard radius, blasted a 4-foot-wide hole in an office wall and damaged computer equipment.

The blast came less than 48 hours after the West German Interior Ministry warned of increased terrorist activity by left-wing extremists to protest plans to deploy new NATO medium-range nuclear missiles in the country.

Burma cuts ties over killings

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Socialist Burma angrily cut diplomatic relations with North Korea Friday, citing evidence "that" firmly established "three" North Korean army officers exploded a bomb that killed 21 people in Rangoon.

An official statement said all diplomatic relations were severed Friday and the 12-man North Korean mission was ordered out of the country within 48 hours.

For the first time, the Burmese government identified two Koreans captured and one killed after the Oct. 9 bomb blast in North Korea.

It said one of them was a major and the other two were captains in the North Korean army.

"The statements of the two captured Koreans, the articles seized and other facts obtained from investigations have firmly established that the explosion was the work of saboteurs sent by North Korea," the statement said.

Jury gives guilty ruling in murder trial

CALDWELL (UPI) — A jury convicted Charles Fain on a first-degree murder count and two other charges Friday in the February 1982 abduction and slaying of 9-year-old Darlyn Johnson of Nampa.

The 35-year-old Fain stood silently as foreman John Krommenhoek announced the nine-woman, three-man "bird" district jury found the defendant guilty of murder, first-degree kidnapping and lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor.

The victim's mother hugged the prosecutor and the sheriff, but Fain's sister said the family would appeal the conviction — which followed a nearly two-week trial and 10 hours of deliberations Thursday night and Friday.

Fain, who was from Redmond, Ore., and also had lived in Nampa, could face the death penalty on the murder and kidnapping charges and up to life in prison on the sexual-abuse count.

Judge Jim Doolittle ordered a pre-sentence investigation, and Fain was led away by deputies to the Canyon County Jail, where he will remain — held — without — bond — until sentencing.

Fain was accused of abducting the girl while she was walking to school on Feb. 24, 1982. Police alleged Fain sexually abused her, then drowned her in a creek near the Snake River.

"All the evidence was there," said County Prosecutor Richard Harris. "I don't really think any piece played a bigger part. It seemed to me they (jurors) weighed the evidence very, very carefully."

The prosecutor said he had not decided whether to recommend Fain be executed.

Fain's court-appointed attorney, Van Bishop, declined to comment on the verdict.

Deanna Johnson, the slain schoolgirl's mother, said she was "relieved" by the verdict after attending the entire trial.

"There's nothing someone can do to hurt you more than to hurt your child," she said.

WPPSS ruling is upheld

BOISE (UPI) — The state Supreme Court refused Friday to reconsider its September order prohibiting five Idaho cities from imposing electric rate increases to pay their debts from two defunct nuclear plants.

The high court denied a petition for a new hearing filed by Chemical Bank, which had lost its bid to require the cities to cover their sponsorship of terminated nuclear power plants 4 and 5 in the Washington Public Power Supply System.

The court gave no special reason for its ruling Friday, simply indicating it did not believe further proceedings were necessary in the case that culminated in an order Sept. 26 saying Heyburn, Rupert, Burley, Idaho Falls and Bonners Ferry could not increase their power rates.

Chemical Bank wanted the rate increases to be sustained so the cities could pay off their share of a $2.25 billion debt stemming from the termination of the Washington state plants in early 1982.

The justices, in a 4-1 ruling, said the cities lacked authority to enter into agreements in 1976 to sponsor the two plants because they did not submit the question to local voters as required by the Idaho Constitution when a municipality assumes a long-term debt.

The decision followed a similar ruling by the Washington Supreme Court invalidating WPPSS contracts signed by public utilities in that state.

Gas scheme strikes state

BOISE (UPI) — Officials have asked an Idaho judge to halt an oil and gas investment operation run by four companies and 43 individuals who allegedly defrauded state residents of at least $200,000.

Gavin Gees, Idaho Finance Department chief of securities, said Friday the defendants fraudulently offered oil and gas leases in various states to Idaho investors under the Bureau of Land Management's simultaneous oil and gas leasing program.

The BLM program was suspended earlier this month after a federal grand jury in Miami indicted three Florida firms in an alleged $6 million oil and gas leasing scheme.

Two of the indicted firms — U.S. Oil & Gas Corp. and Eagle Oil & Gas Corp. — are also named in the Idaho request for an injunction filed Oct. 31 in Fourth District Court. The three companies have pleaded innocent to the federal charges.

Man to face trial for killing grizzly

BOISE (UPI) — A Priest River man will face trial in federal court next month for the alleged illegal arrow killing of a grizzly bear, officials said Friday.

Jamie Harrison Bibb, 41, has pleaded innocent to felony counts taking and possessing a threatened species of wildlife in the May 1 killing of a grizzly in Canada.

A grand jury indictment issued in U.S. District Court in October claimed Bibb used a bow and arrow to kill the bear, then transported the carcass back into Idaho.

Castleford rolls over Marsing, 32-8

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

NAMP — Probably the most remarkable aspect of the Castleford High School football team's performance Friday night was the ease with which it achieved its 32-8 state A-4 playoff triumph over Marsing.

The Wolves, 9-0, simply dominated Marsing, particularly during the first half in reaching next Saturday's championship final. Castleford will play the winner of today's Deary-Mullan semifinal game for the title. Should Mullan win, the Wolves will have the pleasure of playing close to home, in Buhl. A Deary victory, however, would put the game in the Moscow-Kibbie Dome.

Whoever and wherever the Wolves play, it's doubtful they'll participate in the contest such the trouble-free one they engaged in Friday.

"I'm absolutely surprised,"

Idaho State Playoffs

Castleford Coach Hal Jardine said, "I thought we'd have a really tough defensive game, I thought we could win, but I didn't think we'd score this many points. And I didn't think we could control the ball that well."

Castleford exercised its control primarily in the first half when it built an 18-0 lead. Before intermission, the Wolves amassed 168 total yards to Marsing's 49 and 11 first downs to two for the Huskies.

James Dwyer, Marsing's tailback who had gained more than 700 yards, was held to 46 yards on 19 carries.

"Our linebackers did a good job reading the tailback's key," Jardine said. "Overall, the Wolves had a 297-231 edge in total offense over Marsing, which ended its season at 7-2.

"The first half was the whole key to it," said Marsing Coach Don Jamison, who went on to lament his team's emotional preparation. "We just didn't play ball in the first half. We picked a bad time to play a loosey down game. We came in flat — we didn't come in to win the game."

However, Castleford did. The Wolves made this evident on their first possession, moving 55 yards on 12 plays for their first touchdown, a 10-yard flip from quarterback Gary Reynolds to Darren-Howard with 6:44 left in the first quarter.

Eleven consecutive running plays preceded the lone pass, with Rich Owen carrying nine times. Three times Owen picked up first downs on third-and-short situations.

After planning Marsing deep in its own territory early in the second quarter, the Wolves benefited from Scott Barrenberg's 20-yard punt to gain superb field position at the Husky 35-yard line. Five plays later, Owen gave Castleford a 12-0 cushion, skirting right and outrunning four Marsing defenders to score from 24 yards out with 7:58 left in the half.

Marsing stopped the Wolves on their next possession after they drove to the Husky's 5. But three plays after Marsing took possession, Howard intercepted a Barrenberg pass at the Husky 19 and ran it to the 11 before slipping.

Reynolds then threw incomplete to a wide-open Alan Sample in the end zone, but on the next play the sophomore quarterback connected with Sample who had outdistanced Dwyer on a corner pattern to the right side. Sample's catch with 1:40 to go established the halftime margin.

"We were in trouble trying to come back from being 18 points down," Jamison would say later. "We're not that explosive."

Indeed, Marsing self-destructed on its third play from scrimmage in the second half. On third-and-2 from Marsing's 16, Barrenberg tried to make an option pitchout to Dwyer while being draped by Castleford linebacker Shawn Crowley. The toss traveled directly into the hands of Reynolds, who scampered 16 yards for the touchdown. Ron Owen's conversion kick increased the bulge to 25-0 with 8:30 left in the third quarter.

Connecting on four of six passes, Barrenberg produced Marsing's lone touchdown on its next possession. On third-and-7 from the Wolves' 10, Barrenberg rolled left, eluded Castleford's Larry Hanover and drilled a pass to Kelly Dines, who caught the ball barely over the goal line between defenders Sample and Steve Zamora. Barrenberg threw to Gener Helmer for the conversion that made it 26-8 with 5:26 left in the period.

Castleford ended the scoring on the evening's most spectacular play, Rich

Owen, who had done yeoman's work in the first half by carrying 16 times for 80 yards (he finished with 88 yards on 18 attempts), displayed his running talents to their fullest after taking a Reynolds screen pass on first-and-25 from Marsing's 44.

After catching the ball near mid-field, Owen blasted through Marsing defenders Iotmer and Kelly Nielsen. He sped up the right sideline, then eluded his third and fourth would-be tacklers, Dwyer and Rick Fouts, at the 10 before scoring with 2:07 to go in the quarter.

Castleford's final score: 32-8. Marsing's final score: 8-0.

C — Howards 10 passes from Reynolds (pass failed).

C — Rich Owen 24 run (kick failed).

C — Sample 11 passes from Reynolds (kick failed).

C — Reynolds 15 runs (return of intercepted pitchout (from Owen kick)).

M — K — Dines 10 passes from Barrenberg (Helmer).

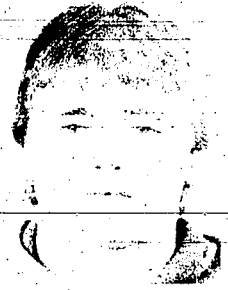

P — from Barrenberg.

C — Rich Owen 44 pass from Reynolds (from Owen kick).

Burley stands astride Madison juggernaut

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

BURLEY — There are people in this world who would exchange places with Burley. Coach John Billeczki this morning. But most of them are standing before firing squads.

"I don't have any illusions about what we're going up against," says the Bobcats' coach. "We're going to try to halt top-ranked Madison's 21-game winning streak in the first round of the Idaho Class A-2 playoffs here today. Madison is a very fine football team, but I'd have to say I'm encouraged by the way we played them last time."

Last time was Sept. 30, when the Bobcats fell 28-6 to Madison here in a Cross State Conference encounter. Billeczki points out that two of Madison's touchdowns resulted directly from turnovers.

"It could just as easily have been 21-14," he says. "Maybe everything is in perspective. If we'd played against Madison the way we played against Caldwell (to whom the Bobcats fell 49-18 last week), I wouldn't feel as good about it."

The problem for Burley, observes Rigby Coach Larry Shumway, will be the same one that has afflicted all eight of Madison's other victims this season.

"You can contain Madison in one area, for example you can shut off (tailback Doug) Walker, and they will come back and beat you in some other way," says Shumway, whose Trojans fell to Madison 45-13 on Oct. 7 after losing Burley 30-14 three weeks earlier. "You can shut off their running game and they'll beat you with the pass. You can shut off the passing game and they'll beat you with their special teams. And if you make a mistake, they'll come back and beat you with it every time."

Billeczki agrees.

"I think Madison's essential strength is that they do certain things very, very well," he says. "They have a fundamentally sound defense and they can do a lot of different things offensively. Physically, though, I think we can play with them — we did last time."

Seventh-year Madison Coach Preston Haley, who is bidding fair to create a dynasty at the Rexburg school with his third state championship in four years, says he has been surprised by a number of things his ballclub — which is smaller than last year's state A-2 championship team — has done this season.

"There has been one of the reasons for our success this year, although it took a couple of games for them to mature," he says. "Our offensive line and our defense, because we lost 10 starters from last year — I frankly never dreamed our defense would play as consistently good as it has, especially early in the year. Then third-I would say the general play of our special teams has been a big factor."

Haley didn't mention the passing game, but everybody else has.

"That's the thing that most impresses me," says Shumway. "Their quarterback (senior Bruce Keek) has thrown 60 or 70 percent completions in some of their games."

Keek's numbers are impressive: 22-for-37 for 14 touchdowns and 1,029 yards. Add that to Walker, who has rushed for 626 yards in seven games, and it's not hard to see why the Bobcats have already scored 300.

Burley linebacker/tight end Darin Wood isn't flashy, but he's very effective

Burley's Wood keeps Bobcats on the track

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

BURLEY — After Tim Knight and Jim McCord have come and gone, most folks who follow the fortunes of Burley High School's football teams expect the leader of the Bobcats' defense to stand out like Lou Ferrigno at a librarians' convention.

But as you survey the Bobcats' defensive alignment when Burley lines up to face Madison here today in the first round of the Idaho Class A-2 playoffs, you could be forgiven for missing inside linebacker Darin Wood. He is, after all, just 6-foot-1 and weighs 195 pounds, and the 44 set Coach John Billeczki has installed is not exactly designed to showcase its individual members.

But observe for a play or two.

"One of the reasons we are in the playoffs this year is our defense," says Billeczki. "And one of the big reasons for our defensive success is Darin, his leadership qualities. It's not so much what he says, but he always gives a lot. He's a real good hitter and he does a good job of motivating the rest of the defense."

Wood, who doubles as a tight end on offense, was one of a handful of Burley seniors with experience at the start the season. As the Bobcats took their lumps early, losing to Mountain Home, Minico and Highwood, Wood, linebacker/offensive tackle

Scott Newman and offensive guard Danny Konrad kept the team together until its youngsters had time to mature.

"We beat Burley's defense pretty good," says Rigby Coach Larry Shumway of the Trojans' 38-14 Cross State Conference victory over the Bobcats on Sept. 16. "But what stands out in my mind is that kid in the middle. He just didn't quit, even though we were ahead 21-0 at the end of the first quarter."

That's not news to Ed St. John, the first round of the Idaho Class A-2 playoffs, where Wood played on a team that included current Twin Falls High star Corey Federico.

"I'd have to say Darin was the best defensive player I've ever coached," says St. John. "When I had him in the ninth grade he was big, about 6-1, 180, and quick. I'd say he's very well suited for what they're not him doing now because he's quick, strong, a good competitor and very coachable."

Billeczki says Wood is the ideal linebacker for his defense, which stunts and lot and tries to mix up coverages.

"Darin's not overly fast, 4.9 or 5.0 (in the 40-yard dash), but I guess you'd say he's got game speed," says Billeczki. "I've noticed that if a guy catches a little quick pass and gets into the open, it's Darin who catches him."

On offense, Billeczki says Wood is important to the success of the Bobcats' sprint draw.

"One of Darin's jobs is to block the tackle, so that our quarterback can run outside or cut it inside," says the coach. "We never have any problem with his tackle on those plays."

Wood, who has played fullback, defensive end and quarterback in addition to the two jobs he holds for the Bobcats—thinks he's found the perfect situation in Burley. He spent the 1991 season in Farmington, N.M., playing quarterback on a sophomore team at the high school roughly the size of Boise or Capital.

"The move turned out good for me because a school the size of Burley is so much more friendly," he says. "You can walk down the hall and you know everybody. I like playing tight end a lot more than quarterback, too. For one thing, you get to play more."

Wood, who has been in on 37 tackles this season and has intercepted two passes, cites team unity as the reason for Burley's success this year.

"The team really pulled together," he says. "After the (14-0) loss to Minico, everybody was down. But after a few games' experience we just pulled together. The offensive line starting giving a lot more protection to our quarterback."

Phillies waive Christenson

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pitcher Larry Christenson, whose career is jeopardized because of elbow surgery, was released Friday by the Philadelphia Phillies, who also promoted five minor league players to their official 40-man roster.

Christenson, a righthander who posted a 2-4 record in nine starts last season, had his right elbow surgically rebuilt twice in 1983 and his future as a pitcher is in doubt.

Phillies president Bill Goss said, however, that Christenson, who has two years left on his contract, will be invited to spring training and travel with the team next season as he continues his rehabilitation.

Christenson, 29, has posted an 83-71 record in 11 years with the Phillies.

High court turns down English

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens refused Friday to allow Tulane quarterback Jon English to return to the starting lineup of his team while he appeals a disqualification order of the NCAA.

Justice Byron White had refused a similar request Thursday. White and Stevens refused to overturn a National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling that English is ineligible to play because he did not sit out a year after transferring to Tulane from Iowa State.

Both justices turned down requests for a temporary injunction against the NCAA, which would, if granted, have allowed English to play football for the Tulane team while appealing the decision on his eligibility.

DiGregorio loses suit to SI

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A U.S. District Court jury deliberated less than two hours Friday before returning a ruling in favor of Sports Illustrated in the $3 million libel lawsuit filed against the magazine by former NBA guard Ernie DiGregorio.

The verdict clears the magazine, its parent company, Time Inc., and writer Rick Tolander of charges they knowingly printed false statements about the former Providence College basketball star.

The suit contended the Jan. 12, 1981 article entitled, "A Real Nowhere Man," dealt with DiGregorio's life after he left pro basketball in 1978, caused him humiliation and damaged his professional reputation. Magistrate officials said the article accurately portrayed DiGregorio as torn between his love for basketball and love for his family.

NASL closer to collapse

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Manic, a glittering success story two years ago, folded Friday, plunging the North American Soccer League closer to oblivion.

Molson Breweries, owner of the club, cited a sudden fall from grace in which the Manic slipped from an average 23,000 fans per game in 1981 to only 7,000 this past season, absorbing $10 million in losses over the three years of operation.

"I don't believe in this league. I stopped believing in it last summer and the quicker it goes down the better," said Manic vice-president and general manager Jacques Burrelle. "The offloading was poor and when you lose 14 franchises in three years, that speaks for itself."

The fall of the Manic left the NASL with only 10 of the 24 franchises it had three years ago. NASL president Howard Samuels said the number of survivors would probably be eight by the time the outdoor season opened in April.

"I am not shocked or surprised," said Samuels. "It was sort of expected. We will probably have eight teams outdoors next spring and it's part of our consolidation plan."

The Manic was the second franchise to be terminated in the past week. Team USA folded earlier and NASL champion Tulsa Roughnecks also teetered on the brink as local supporters strove to meet a fund-raising deadline set for midnight Friday. The Tampa, Fla. club was also fighting to stay alive for 1984.

76ers absorb first loss of year

By United Press International

Marcus Johnson scored 28 points to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 104-94 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers 104-94, handing the defending world champions their first defeat of the season after three victories.

It was Milwaukee's first triumph in Philadelphia since January 1982.

The Bucks never trailed in the game and led by as many as 18 points, 60-42, late in the first half on a free throw by Bob Lanier. The Bucks held a 61-49 advantage at the half.

Led by Sidney Moncrief and Lanier, the Milwaukee lead reached 84-60 on a Johnson layup with 1:33 left in the third quarter. A layup by Johnson gave Milwaukee a 93-70 advantage with 9:27 left in the game before the 76ers gained some ground in the later going.

Moncrief added 21 points and Lanier 17 for the Bucks, while Moses Malone topped the 76ers with 19 points.

Julius Erving was held to eight points.

Atlanta 103, Chicago 99

In Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 23 points and Eddie Johnson added 22 to lead the Atlanta Hawks to their third straight victory, a triumph over the Chicago Bulls.

Atlanta led by a 26-16 first quarter lead, but held only a 53-52 advantage at the half after Johnny Davis hit a free throw 25 seconds before the buzzer.

The Hawks, now 3-1, surged to a 13-point lead at 74-61 with 4:45 left in the third quarter, and the Bulls could draw no closer than an eight points entering the final quarter.

Atlanta led its biggest lead of the game, 103-89, with 45 seconds remaining after a dunk by Wilkins. The Hawks got 16 points from Dan Roundfield while Tree Rollins scored 15 points, hauled down 11 rebounds and blocked a game-high 10 shots.

Chicago, now 1-3, was led by Mitchell Wiggins with 25 points off the bench, while Sidney Green finished with 14 points and 11 rebounds. Houston 113, Detroit 106

In Detroit, Allen Leavell scored Houston's last seven points and made a key stretch to a minute-to-play to help the Houston Rockets to a victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The score was tied 106-106 when Ralph Sampson forced out with a game-high 26 points with 1:25 to play.

However, Caldwell Jones, who had 24 points, blocked a shot by Kelly Tripucka and Leavell turned it into a basket with 1:04 left to give the Rockets a 109-106 lead.

Leavell then stole the ball and was fouled with 40 seconds to play, converting two free throws that gave him a four-point edge.

Tripucka answered with two free throws for Detroit, the last of his 22 points, and Leavell sank a free throw with seven seconds left to put the Rockets ahead 113-106.

Detroit had a shot at a three-point field goal but guard John Long caught their rebound pass with one foot out of bounds and Leavell sealed the game with the last two of his nine points.

Sampson scored on his first three shots of the game and showed offensive liveliness with a devastating offensive force he can be. When he left the game with four fouls in the third quarter, Detroit outscored Houston 42-6 to take an 81-79 lead into the final period.

Sampson started the fourth quarter by making eight of Houston's first 10 points to give the Rockets an 89-83 lead but picked up his fifth foul with 8:31 left and sat on the bench until Detroit cut the lead to 100-99 with 4:45 to play.

Isiah Thomas scored 17 points for Detroit but was scoreless in the fourth quarter. Terry Tyler had 17 and Bill Laimbeer, his nose broken and sporting a black right eye from Bob Lanier's punch Tuesday night, had 19 for the Pistons.

Lewis Lloyd and Robert Reid each had 16 for Houston.

Boston 121, Indiana 105

In Boston, Robert Parish collected 29 of his 34 points in the second half and Larry Bird added 31 points to lead the Boston Celtics to a victory over the Indiana Pacers.

The loss was the 17th consecutive road defeat for Indiana, which has not won away from Market Square Arena since Feb. 15 when they defeated the Bulls at Chicago. The victory was the third straight for Boston since its opening loss at Detroit.

For the second time in as many home games, the Celtics never trailed. Bird was virtually unstoppable in scoring 18 first quarter points as the Celtics burst to a 37-24 lead.

Boston led 59-48 at halftime before the Pacers made their only run of the game in the third quarter. Six times Indiana closed to seven points in the third quarter, but could get no closer.

Parish had 14 points in the quarter, which saw Boston lead 90-80.

Indiana, 1-3, again pulled to within seven points on two occasions in the fourth period, the final time being 100-93 with 6:27 remaining on a pair of free throws by Butch Carter. Parish then answered with jumpers from the lane and the baseline to give Boston an 11-point lead and thwart the final Indiana surge.

Bird had 11 rebounds and five assists while Parish had eight rebounds and blocked three shots. Kevin McHale added 20 for Boston, all in the first three quarters, while Dennis Johnson had 15. Clark Kellogg led Indiana with 24 while Herb Williams added 21 and rookie Steve Stipanovich had 16.

Cleveland 105, Dallas 84

In Richfield, Ohio, World B. Free poured in a season-high 40 points and Cliff Robinson added 18 to spark the Cleveland Cavaliers to a victory over the Dallas Mavericks.

The Cavs, who are now 7-4 against Dallas in four seasons, joined the Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia 76ers as the only teams that have not lost to the Mavericks.

After spotting the Mavericks a 21-10 halftime lead, the Cavs outscored Dallas 33-6 and took a 58-56 lead on a 22-footer by Free with 6:09 left in the third period and never looked back.

The Cavs outscored Dallas 34-15 in the third period, with Free getting 17 and Robinson eight, while Dallas took only 12 shots with six finding the mark.

Free, who hit on 13 of 27 from the field and a perfect 13 of 13 from the foul line, tossed in 15 first period points to pace the Cavs to a 27-23 lead in the period.

But the Mavericks bounced back and snapped a 35-35 deadlock with 5:18 left in the half on a 22-footer by Rolando Blackman and held on for the halftime lead.

New Jersey loses tenth straight game

By United Press International

Brent and Duane Sutter each scored a goal and assisted on each other's goal, and John Tonelli added a goal and an assist to lead the New York Islanders to a 6-1 victory over New Jersey Friday night, handing the Devils their 10th straight loss.

It was also the 10th straight game in which former-Islanders goaltender Chico Resch failed to beat his ex-teammates. The New Jersey goalie is now 0-9-1 against the Islanders.

New York capitalized on Devils' mistakes, but missed late in the first period. Tonelli converted on a power play, beating Resch at 16:06 with a 15-footer on the goalie's glove side near the post. Brent Sutter set up his brother Duane in the corner at 17:44 and Duane Sutter's backhander made it 2-0.

The Devils pulled to within 2-1 at 13:31 of the second period when Pat Verbeek fired a 55-footer on which New York goalie Roland Melanson fanned. Murray Brunwell and Resch assisted on Verbeek's goal. New York scored two late goals in the period again, Brent Sutter scoring from the slot at 18:36 and Bob Bourne knocking home a rebound when New Jersey failed to clear at 19:02, for a 4-1 lead.

Clark Gillies scored 52 seconds into the final period, and Greg Gilbert scored midway through the period for the Islanders.

Islanders defenseman Denis Potvin's assist on Tonelli's goal increased his assist streak to 12 games, which is a club record and two short of the NHL mark.

Washington 5, Vancouver 4

In Landover, Md., Bengt Gustafsson converted a perfect pass from Alvin Haworth at 1:01 in overtime to give the Washington Capitals a victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

Haworth's pass from the right side of the net reached Gustafsson 15 feet out on the left and he lifted the puck into the near corner past goaltender Richard Brodeur for his second goal of the game.

Washington got goals 79 seconds apart from Larry Murphy and Darren Veitch to open the third period and overcame a 4-2 Vancouver lead.

The Canucks had gone ahead midway through the second period on Darcy Rota's second goal of the night and one by Patrik Sundstrom, the goals coming 27 seconds apart.

In a late game, it was Toronto at Winnipeg.

49ers will be taking on history Sunday, as well as Miami

By DAVE RAFFO

United Press International

NBA

The San Francisco 49ers will be facing more than a hot football team led by one of the game's best young passers when they host the Miami Dolphins Sunday.

Besting the 49ers' lifeline against the 49ers, Miami has the AFC's best record against NFC teams—34-8—while San Francisco is 19-26 against the AFC. Even the home field advantage works against the 49ers, who are 1-9 at Candlestick Park over the past two years.

San Francisco's record is also coming off a 27-13 loss to the New York Jets, while Miami won 30-14 over the Rams in Anaheim last week. Still, the 49ers are a two-point favorite on the basis of both teams being 6-3 and in the chase for division titles. Miami is tied with Buffalo atop the AFC East while the 49ers hold a one-game lead over the Rams and New Orleans in the NFC West.

San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh feels a more balanced offense is all his team needs to rebound from last week's loss. The 49ers rushed for just 85 yards against the Jets, with quarterback Joe Montana accounting for 50 yards on the ground.

"We're searching for the combination that will allow us to run the ball," Walsh said. "And we'd like to throw long more often than we have. We look at last Sunday's game as a pretty severe test, as they were."

Miami has rallied behind Marino to win its last three games.

"I can't tell you how happy and proud I am of our football team," Dolphins Coach Don Shula said. "The offense, the defense and the special teams all played superb. It was a complete win. I can't say enough about Dan Marino. He showed all kinds of coolness and maturity. The game was something we had to have and we got it."

Shula is wary of Montana, who is having another fine season and sees him as the man his Dolphins have to control in order to have a chance for victory.

"Joe Montana can make the scoreboard light up and he's surrounded by great personnel," said Shula. "And defensively, the 49ers secondary consists of great athletes who are all good hitters. This will be a great test for our young quarterback."

In other games Sunday, New Orleans hosts Atlanta, Chicago visits the Los Angeles Rams, Philadelphia hosts Dallas, Washington hosts St. Louis, Tampa Bay visits Minnesota, the New York Jets host Baltimore, New England hosts Buffalo, Houston hosts Cincinnati, Seattle hosts Denver, Kansas City hosts the Los Angeles Raiders, Pittsburgh hosts San Diego and Green Bay hosts Cleveland.

On Monday night, the New York Giants visit Detroit.

At Seattle, two surprising teams meet in a key AFC-West battle. Denver has won four straight behind quarterback Steve DeBerg to share the division lead with the Raiders, while rookie runner Curt Warner led Seattle just a game behind. DeBerg passed for a career-high 350 yards against Kansas City last week.

Warner leads the AFC with 755 yards in his quest to become the first Seahawk runner to gain 1,000 yards in a season. Dave Krieg replaced Jim Zorn as Seahawks quarterback in last week's win over Raiders.

At New Orleans, the revived Falcons, 4-5, and Saints, 3-4, fight to say in the NFC West title picture.

Atlanta won its second straight last week, topping New England, 24-13, and has gained over 400 yards total offense in its last two games.

Maryland, Miami eye Orange bid

By DAVE RAFFO
United Press International

With three weeks remaining until bowl bids go out, the Orange Bowl appears to hold the key to the overall picture. And it's No. 5 Miami (Fla.) and No. 7 Maryland holding the key to the Orange Bowl.

No. 1 Nebraska is guaranteed to go to the Orange Bowl in Miami if it wins the Big Eight and the Orange Bowl committee would like to pit the Cornhuskers against the highest ranked available school. That would be Miami, if the Hurricanes get by East Carolina Saturday and Florida State on Nov. 12.

Should Miami stumble unexpectedly, the winner of the Maryland-No. 3 Auburn game will be in the driver's seat for an Orange Bowl bid. Auburn would be in the running, however, only if the Tigers don't win the Southeastern Conference title and go to the Sugar Bowl.

A win by Maryland Saturday practically guarantees the Terrapins a trip to the Orange or Cotton Bowl, where No. 2 Texas is expected to go after wrapping up the Southwest Conference crown.

Here's the top candidates to go to major bowls:

Orange Bowl — Big Eight winner against Miami, Maryland, SEC or SWC runnerup.

Cotton Bowl — SWC winner against Maryland, Notre Dame, Big 10 or SEC runnerup.

Sugar Bowl — SEC winner against Miami, Maryland, Big Eight or Big Ten runnerup.

Rose Bowl — Big Ten winner against Pacific-10 winner.

Fiesta Bowl — Two out of North Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Michigan, Washington, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame and Iowa.

Nebraska and No. 11 Oklahoma hope to continue unbeaten in the Big Eight until their Nov. 26 showdown. Nebraska hosts Iowa State and Oklahoma visits Missouri.

Texas can come close to sealing the SWC title with a win at Houston.

No. 5 Georgia meets No. 10 Florida in the second week of an SEC round-robin. Florida slipped from a share of the league lead last week with a loss to Auburn, which travels to Georgia Nov. 12.

Georgia has a 22-game SEC winning streak, but coach Vince Dooley is worried. All-America defensive back Terry House is among three questionable starters and leading rusher Tom Jackson is hobbled for a training violation.

"We haven't been called upon this year to play two teams as good as our next two opponents," Dooley said. "We have not played well enough to beat Florida. We don't throw the ball very well. Georgia will have to play better than we have at anytime for the entire 60 minutes if we hope to stay with Florida."

No. 8 Illinois is in command in the Big Ten race. Beginning with Minnesota Saturday, the first-place Illini finish with three of the league's four worst teams.

Unranked UCLA leads the Pac-10 and visits Oregon Saturday while second-place Washington travels to Arizona.

AAC leader Maryland and co-SEC leader Auburn may have more at stake in Saturday's non-league game than in any conference battle. The winner practically clinches a major bowl berth, whether they win their league or not.

"Things aren't complicated," Maryland Coach Bobby Ross said. "This is what we prepare for all year. Not many teams get the chance to play in this type of situation."

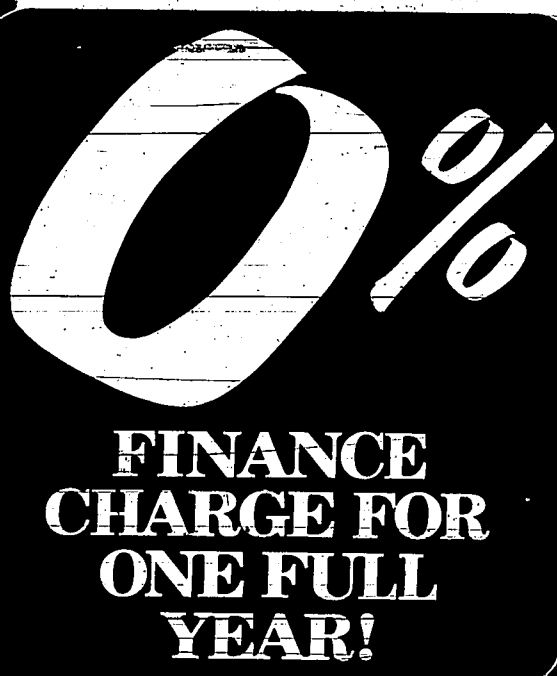

In another game certain to affect the bowls, No. 18 Notre Dame hosts No. 10 Pittsburgh. Both teams are 6-2 and on a winning streak. Notre Dame has won its last five and Pitt has won four straight.

"I imagine the team that wins will be looked at very favorably by some good bowls," Pitt Coach Foge Fazio said. "I have no idea about bowls, but I hope we go to one."

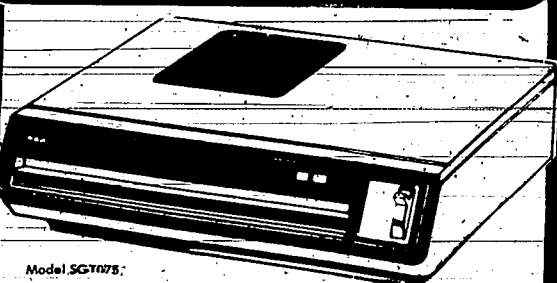

"I don't know who's interested, or rather, I know but I'm not going to say anything," Notre Dame Coach Gerry Stuebe said. "I can't think about bowls at this point of the season."

Also, No. 8 Southern Methodist hosts Rice, No. 9 North Carolina hosts Clemson, No. 12 Brigham Young visits Texas. El Paso, No. 12 Boise State visits Army, No. 14 Iowa visits Wisconsin, No. 15 Ohio State visits Indiana, No. 16 Michigan hosts Purdue, No. 17 Alabama visits Louisiana State, and No. 20 West Virginia hosts Temple.

THE ACES® BOBBY WOLFF

Dear Mr. Wolff:
Opponents double two diamonds and we make three. Are we entitled to a game?

Made in, Ocala, Fla.

ANSWER: No. Only the trick score contracted for is scored below the line. In your case, it scores 80 points for two diamonds doubled (20 points per trick, doubled). The overtrick is scored above the line: 100 or 200 points, depending upon vulnerability.

Dear Mr. Wolff:
If partner makes a takeout, double and next opponent redoubles, am I still obligated to bid?

In the Soap, Memphis, Tenn.

ANSWER: No, you are not. However, if you have a five-card suit (perhaps even four) that you can bid without using the rescue space, I would bid it. Otherwise, I would let him rescue himself.

Dear Mr. Wolff:
I held 4-3-3-3 hand with 23 high-card points but without a stopper in the club suit (10-8-3). What do you suggest as the best opening bid?

Strategic One, Yuba Plains, N.Y.

ANSWER: There are two choices. Two no-trump or one club. One club risks a missed game while two no-trump fits about the club stopper. I'd rather tell a small lie than take the risk of missing game.

Dear Mr. Wolff:
I open one diamond, partner bids one heart and I bid one no-trump. Partner now jumps to three diamonds. Is this a forcing bid or an invitational bid?

Big Mis-op, Pueblo, Colo.

ANSWER: This is a hazy area—and each partnership must reach advanced agreement. Some play all jumps in minors as forcing bids; others play them highly invitational.

Dear Mr. Wolff:
Partner bids Stayman and I hold both majors. Which should I bid first, hearts or spades? Shouldn't partner have at least one major to bid two clubs?

Major Trouble, Wallalla, S.C.

ANSWER: Standard methods suggest bidding spades first; however, some agree to bid hearts first. I prefer the also-standard-to-promise-at-least-one-four-card-major when bidding Stayman. Nevertheless, some partnerships agree otherwise and the Stayman bidder may not have a four-card major.

Send bridge questions to The Aces, P.O. Box 12363, Dallas, Texas 75223, with self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Carpenter's Imports Introduces
The 1984 PEUGEOTS...

Peugeot reinvents the big wagon

It's bigger than the best-selling imported or American wagons. With its back seat up, it holds even more than the hold-over dinosaurs from Detroit. Yet — here's a pleasant surprise — this is one big wagon that is designed not to wag its tail clumsily from side-to-side on the highway. The Peugeot 505 GL wagon. Huge inside. Not too huge outside. A wagon with the road handling of a European sedan. We've got it! Come and try it.

Gargantuan space and rugged on P.M. measurements.
